DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

1. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 1-48 and 91 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. Technology is required in the body of the claim. In a non-trivial manner, each claim must be directly tied to the technological arts. The claims as drafted can read on a oral communication.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

3. Claims 1-4,7,8,23,24,25,26,27,28,29,30,34,35,36,37,38,39,40,41,42,43,44,45,46-49,52,53,68-75,79,80,81,82,84,85-90 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Minton USP #6014643.

The reference is directed to a method and apparatus for trading financial instruments. Figure 400 and the accompanying text describe the features of the cited claims. The applicant has filed 90+ claims that but for the type of instrument being traded read on prior art trading systems. The applicant has attempted to distinguish the claims with a limitation directed to "customizable investment product" (method independent claim 1 and apparatus independent claim 46). The broadest reasonable interpretation of the limitation a customizable investment product, includes, many regularly traded financial instruments, such as preferred stocks and vanilla options, securities inherent in the teaching of Minton. While the applicant's specification is directed to a trading method and apparatus designed to handle a principal protected notes, each of the limitations of the cited claims read on the prior art electronic trading interface and network designed to handle plain vanilla securities, options and futures. The examiner takes official notice as to any limitation of the cited claims not directly taught by Minton and contends that each of these features are inherent to prior art system as a whole.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. Claims 1-91 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Minton USP 6014643 in view of Pr News Wire, CBOE Begins Trading Index Linked Principal Protected Notes.

The prior art discussed above fails to teach the limitations specifically directed to a principal protected note such as displaying a list which includes at least one of an individual equity related contract with downside protection, a leveraged individual equity contract with limited downside, an equity index contract with an index payout plus a contracted premium, and a collar protection contract for use with an existing equity position with downside protection, receiving a selection of terms for the customizable investment product for the investor, selected from a group of terms consisting of a maturity and a protection level for the individual equity related contract, a maturity and a leverage factor for the leveraged individual equity contract, and an index and a sum to invest. The secondary reference teaches that the CBOE has been trading Principal Protected Equity Linked Notes as of 1998. It would have been obvious for one skilled in the art at the time to have modified the system of Minton to handle the Notes of the secondary reference as motivated by the need to increase liquidity, a well known art recognized variable in securities trading. As to the limitations directed to search strategies of identifying these notes by one or more criteria, it would have been obvious for one to have modified the system of Minton with these features, again as motivated by the need to increase liquidity and the like. The examiner takes official notice that add on stock screening modules are well known in the art.
